Â

"I am running for a seat on the Erie County Commission, because I want to use the skills I have learned during the past 24 years â€“ listening, learning and communicating â€“ to better position the county financially and operationally moving into the future," said Shoffner.

Â

Shoffner is running for Erie County Commissioner. He has been the News Director at WLEC and WCPZ radio stations in Sandusky for the past 24 years.

His goals for County Commissioner include:

â€¢ Placing an emphasis on working with our community partners to help create new regional water, sewer and public transportation opportunities.

â€¢ Supporting the circle of care now in place in Erie County regarding the local battle against the opioid epidemic.

â€¢ Engaging with all county employees to find out how we can make their work environment better and in turn improve the countyâ€™s overall service delivery standards.

Â

Shoffner adds, "As your next commissioner I will focus on removing differences and obstacles that have prevented a more cooperative work environment from flourishing between local political sub-divisions."
