Distilling Craft helps distillery owners build successful craft distilleries.

Distilling Craft, a distillery consultancy agency, officially launches new website and podcast aimed at supporting new and existing craft distillery owners.

Online PR News â€“ 08-August-2018â€“ The craft distillery industry reached over $3 billion in retail sales in 2017, according to the American Craft Spirits Associationâ€“a 25% increase from the previous year. One report by Grand View Research, Inc. estimates that the global craft spirits market will reach $80.43 billion by 2025. Itâ€™s clear that the industry is growing and, with the passage of the new Craft Beverage Modernization and Tax Reform Act (CBMTRA) last year, everyone is taking notice.

Â

Distilling Craft is a new distillery consultancy agency that is opening its doors in support of business owners and entrepreneurs who are starting a distillery. The company offers a wide range of consulting services for both new and existing craft distillery ownersâ€“from business planning to facility designâ€“that help these businesses build a strong foundation, avoid common pitfalls, and ensure profitability. With such a widespread distribution of distilleries across the country, Distilling Craft will have the ability to provide services remotely as well as on-site.

Â

Devin Mills, owner and founder of Distilling Craft, says â€œBy focusing on matching the building, equipment and processes to the needs of our clients, we hope to help distillery owners produce the exact spirits they and their customers want.”

Â

In addition to the launch of the new distillery consulting website, Distilling Craft has also launched a new distilling podcast. Distilling Craft Podcast will focus on the intricacies of distilling, covering topics like advanced distillation methods and the study of fermentation. Having been featured in an episode of Discovery Channel's Moonshiners which premiered earlier this year, Devin, the podcast host, is regarded as an expert in the field of distilling.
