

Global Escape Realty adds Featured Listing Packages and Continuous Site Promotion via Twitter.

Global Estate Realty is a service of JD Lockers LLC and offers a service to connect sellers to potential buyers and renters of international real estate. Offering a user friendly and relevant search result website, Global Escape Realty uses the latest in web technology to provide realtors around the world the opportunity to showcase their properties to a truly global audience.

Online PR News “22-March-2011” The innovative and interactive way of advertising international real estate now offers sellers even more advertising options. Various packages available with featured listing visibility including multiple photographs and included currency converter.

Â

09 March 2011

Following the successful launch of <http://www.globalescaperealty.com> last year, the company has invested heavily into even more ways to showcase international real estate listings to the worldwide marketplace.

Â

Not only does the website now use social networking sites Twitter and Facebook to continuously feed international real estate listings to a wider audience, but it is now offering featured listings packages at a variety of prices to suit all pockets.

In addition to the sites free international real estate listings, it is now possible to purchase a featured package for multiple listings. On offer are personal listing packages costing $20 per month for 5 featured listings, agent level packages for $60/month for 50 listings or enterprise level packages providing 100 listings for $100/month. Each of these featured accounts includes up to 15 photographs and top spot location placement on the website.

Featured international real estate listings will also be highlighted and color banded in order to draw the eye of the user and grab the attention of interested purchasers.

Â

<http://www.globalescaperealty.com> also provides international real estate buyers and investors the opportunity to quickly work out foreign market prices with a simple to use currency converter. Searching through the international real estate listings is easy and accurate using the worldwide interactive map feature to ensure that the results returned are specific to the search required. No more scrolling through reams of international property listings which have no relevance to what is needed.

Â

The site is also proud to announce that they will soon be offering both virtual tours and embedded YouTube videos in all featured listings. This offers prospective buyers the best possible viewing experience without stepping foot outside, along with ensuring that international real estate listings are as accurate and lifelike as possible to browsing purchasers. In the near future there will also be unique map icon tags for rental properties along with the possibility to purchase premium front-page listings at incredible value for money prices. Read more on international real estate listings at our blog <http://www.blog.globalescaperealty.com>

Â

About Global Estate Realty

Â

Global Estate Realty is a service of JD Lockers LLC and offers a service to connect sellers to potential buyers and renters of international real estate. Offering a user friendly and relevant search result website, Global Escape Realty uses the latest in web technology to provide realtors around the world the opportunity to showcase their properties to a truly global audience.

Â

User interaction is possible and actively encouraged to enable questions to be posed and answered in the search for international real estate. The website covers properties worldwide and gives both buyers and sellers a totally interactive international property search experience.

Â

Media Information

tom

johndalton@tiainterweb.com

<http://www.globalescaperealty.com>

CA

CA

93740

United States