

Custom-Papers.co.uk Preserves Continuity via New Equipment to Provide Emergency Power

Custom-Papers.co.uk ensures custom writing goes right on even in power crises. New equipment keeps Custom-Papers.co.uk offices supplied and online for hours.

Online PR News â€“ 06-June-2011 â€“ Custom-Papers.co.uk keeps things humming with a new uninterruptible power supply. Even in an electrical outage, we should be able to maintain service online for our customers. This investment reflects our commitment to our clients academic success.

Â

We have observed the increased possibility of interrupted power service, from natural disasters, weather, or even fuel shortages. To ensure Custom-Papers.co.uk's continued operation until professional or municipal help is available, we have made some substantial investments and plans.

Â

Custom-Papers.co.uk now has a special temporary power supply to maintain constant voltage whenever electricity fails. This is critical, because sensitive computing and telecommunications equipment cannot tolerate fluctuations in electrical current. This new piece of equipment responds almost too swiftly for human perception.

Â

With the voltage held constant, Custom-Papers.co.uk data is preserved until the large generator, which we have recently invested in, kicks in. This unit has several fuel sources, and powers the computers for several hours.

Â

Our growing solar panel array also generates energy during daylight outages. Additionally, Custom-Papers.co.uk policy is to turn off all non-computing equipment when on emergency power.
