Anchor Heating and Air Conditioning Launches a New Blog

Anchor Heating and Air Conditioning, Douglasville's best and most trusted a/c business, launches new online resource for customers.

Online PR News "07-July-2011" Anchor Heating and Air Conditioning - Douglasville, a quality, family-owned business, recently launched a new value-add blog for Douglasville and West Georgia residents (<http://AnchorHeatingandAirconditioning.com>). Designed with the home and business owner in mind, it offers weekly tips and ideas on a variety of topics including home air conditioning repair, saving money in the summer, heating, indoor air quality and "going green" with heating and air conditioning units.

À

Even better, it also has a quick response form so Anchor Heating and Air Conditioning can be reached right away with an email or a phone call to schedule a repair, get a new system or order parts.

Â

The site also provides up-to-date information on equipment, including the Trane systems used. The comparison charts quickly and easily explain why a solid investment in quality equipment is crucial for comfort.

Â

Tips and articles will also focus on the areas served by Anchor Heating and Air Conditioning (and the areas Douglasville, GA residents care most about), including air conditioning and heating repair, maintenance and service, and new unit sales.

Â

The blog also features a variety of customer testimonials.
