

Hong Kong Mile Odds, Picks and Tips Show Jimmy Choux in Form For Asian Riches

Punters Paradise announces access to the best available Hong Kong Mile odds, an opportunity to buy or sell racing tips online, free detailed horse forms and more.

Online PR News â€“ 09-December-2011 â€“ The 2011 Hong Kong Mile, one of four Group One events held during the $62million HK Turf World Championships at Sha Tin, features Australasia's racing sensation Jimmy Choux and to share this exciting action Punters Paradise is providing an opportunity to buy or sell racing tips online, free detailed horse form guides, a free Hong Kong Mile best available odds comparison page and more.

Â

The 2011 Hong Kong Mile features the only horse from the southern hemisphere, namely the 2011 Cox Plate place-getter and multiple Group One winner Jimmy Choux of New Zealand, who has proven successful during first up starts in new surroundings.

Â

The 2011 Hong Kong Mile, one of four Group One events held during the prestigious Turf World Championships, is a 1600 metre event with prize money totaling 20million HK (nearly $2.5 million AUD). The others are the Hong Kong Sprint (1200 metres), Hong Kong Vase (2400 metres) and Hong Kong Cup (2000 metres).

Â

Held this Sunday the 11th of December at the Sha Tin race course as event seven, the Hong Kong Mile will field a group of fourteen International stayers who've run and won some of the most prestigious races in the world.

Â

The 2011 Hong Kong Mile odds favourites are the John Barry trained Jimmy Choux and the John Moore trained local runner Xtension (IRE), winner of the 2011 Group One Hong Kong Champions Mile at Sha Tin in April, with win odds priced in the $5.50-$6.50 range.

Â

Rounding out the top three is the Rod Collet trained Sahpresa (US), who placed third in the Group One Japan Kyoto Mile Championship on the 20th of November, with win odds between $8.50 and $9.00.

Â

Among the key Hong Kong Mile form facts include:

Â

- The Jonathan Riddell ridden Jimmy Choux, who placed second in the $3million 2011 Cox Plate in October, drew favourably landing barrier two and has impressed during his acclimation to the turf.

Â

If Jimmy Choux is declared the first horse past the winning post, he will join the great Sunline (2000) as the only other New Zealand trained winner in the Hong Kong Miles history.

Â

- Xtension, fresh off a closely contested fifth place finish (less than a length) in the Group Two Sha Tin Jockey Club Mile last start, is seeking to regain the form that has brought much success at Sha Tin, including second place in the Hong Kong Derby earlier this year.

Â

- Eight of Sahpresas last nine starts have been at Group One level, including a victory in the Group One Sun Chariot Stakes at Newmarket in September, and shes finished no lower than fourth in all but one of her past twenty-one starts.

Â

Punters Paradise also wishes to invite tipsters to join their unique King Tipping service, the world's only marketplace for people to buy and sell Horse Racing tips online, including Hong Kong Mile picks.
