BookWhirl.com launches another set of ala carte e-publishing services: Book Cover Design and Illustration service.

Online PR News "24-May-2012" GREEN BAY, WI (05/24/2012) Just after four consecutive product launchings, BookWhirl.com caps its month-long e-Publishing Revo Campaign with the release of its ala carte design services. Occupying the fourth week of their campaign is the introduction of the Book Cover Design and Illustration service. Apart from the e-publishing expansion, BookWhirl.com is expected to launch a series of new and innovative services before the end of this year.

Â

The Book Cover Design service offer Standard and Premier packages. The Standard Book Cover Design service is template-based where authors are given a wide-array of design options which they can tweak to suite their books genre. On the other hand, the Premier Book Cover Design is fully customized. It allows authors to work closely with the designers and even request one customized illustration.

Â

The Illustration service enables authors to convey message through visual communication. Its a popular service for writers whose target markets are toddlers and children. The Illustration service is available in three service levels, namely: Thinking, Presentation, and Emotive.

Â

We want to provide quality but affordable services to aspiring writers out there. Because we always believe that publishing shouldnt be too expensive. We have tapped the best designers and illustrators to offer their world class talents to their fellow artists. The ala carte design services for the e-Publishing Revo maybe the last installment of our month-long launch, but it doesnt end there. We ask you to expect a lot from our company. On the next months, experience online book marketing like no other, announced Johnny Chu, BookWhirl.coms President and CEO.
