McKenneys, Inc Offering Building Automation and Control Solutions To Clients in Southeast USA

Online PR News " 16-August-2012 " Intelligent solutions for optimal efficiency

Â

As building systems become more sophisticated, new complexities and challenges emerge as well as unique opportunities. McKenneys, Inc Automation & Control Solutions (ACS) give you complete control of energy management, HVAC controls and security solutions for the lifecycle of your building.

Â

Up to 75 percent of a building's expenses can be directly attributed to its operating and maintenance costs. Disparate, standalone control and monitoring systems can be managed individually, but not efficiently. McKenneys, Inc builds long-lasting value through comprehensive, integrated services and solutions that enable customers to make smarter building management decisions.

Â

Leveraging interoperable, open protocols and existing IT infrastructure, we can integrate all building systems and components including HVAC, card access, security, video surveillance, and lighting control in one seamless system. This allows you to monitor your entire enterprise and develop scalable processes and automated controls for peak performance.

Â

From design and installation to service and maintenance, McKenneys, Inc ACS services offer interoperability and versatility to fit your specific environmental needs. Our goal is to make your tenants more comfortable so you can be comfortable too.

Our ACS services include:

- o Building automation systems design, installation, programming and commissioning
- o Mechanical systems control design, installation, commissioning and training
- o Control system maintenance for pneumatic, electric, and DDC systems
- o Temperature, environment monitoring, power management, zoned lighting and access control
- o Performance monitoring and upgrades for building efficiency enhancements

Â

McKenneys, Inc is dedicated to green building practices, and takes pride in helping our customers control and monitor building conditions to improve energy efficiency and ensure bottom line results.

Â

Since 1948, McKenneys, Inc mission has been to meet or exceed customer expectations on every job we perform. We offer expertise in HVAC, process piping, plumbing, and building automation and control systems, as well as service and maintenance.
