

Already low hosting providers drop prices to lower than average prices for industry wide average.

Online PR News " 17-May-2010 " Prices of web hosting providers have dropped in the recent months making the cheap web hosting providers even cheaper. There are several new businesses taking advantage of the low monthly rates with the major hosting companies.

Â

One of the main differences from major hosting providers is downtime on servers, and the ability to host unlimited domains on the same account for the same price. There are many cheap web hosting companies that may offer low prices, but their reliability may not be the same as the hosting providers below.

Â

JustHost (JustHost link) has a special promotion package that offers Unlimited GBs of space, Unlimited Domains, Unlimited Email accounts, and more. A small business may own 2-3 domains, and can take advantage of hosting all their domains on the same account for the same price.

Â

BlueHost (BlueHost Link) also offers Unlimited Domains which is a great perk for domainers. Not only are they known for their pricing, theyre also known because of their reliability of not having servers down. This is extremely important when looking for a web host. Down time can mean that a company will lose traffic and/or new customers.

Â

HostGator (HostGator Link) offers the same and is well known on the internet as one of the best web hosting providers. You will not find many complaints for HostGator as their servers are always up, and a business will probably never have an issue with them.
