The MISSO leadership scholarship is awarded to a student in good standing with an active membership and role within the MISSO organization. The criterion is based on grades, board positions or volunteerism, and an essay. The award of $500 is to be used for college expenses.

Online PR News "22-January-2014" JDA Professional Services, Inc. works with local Houston colleges to help further the growth of today's young people in the Information Technology field. The young leaders of the future are selected by their grades, their volunteerism, and active participation on their school associations board of directors. To also be considered, the active student must write an essay about why they should be considered for the MISSO Leadership Scholarship.

Â

The selection of the winning student is decided by the JDA scholarship committee made up of the President of the Company, James Del Monte, the HR Manager, Erika Strom, and past alumni members of the association. The award of $500 is to be used for college expenses.
