Farrell Hair Replacement, a company specializing in non-surgical hair replacement, has announced their upcoming world tour for spring 2014.

Online PR News â€œ 18-February-2014â€œ Farrell Hair Replacement, a company specializing in non-surgical hair replacement, has announced their upcoming world tour for spring 2014. In this twenty city tour, hair loss sufferers will have the opportunity to meet privately with hair loss guru Richard Farrell and discuss their needs and goals of getting their hair back. Farrell will demonstrate their technique and the hair loss sufferer will actually be able to see what they look like with a full head of hair again.

Â

Many struggling with hair loss have dealt with risky surgical procedures and harsh chemicals, or feel these are their only options. Both treatments can be equal parts damaging and ineffective. Voted "Best in the World" for nine years in a row, Farrell Hair Replacement provides a viable alternative. The company creates what they call "ultra-custom" non-surgical hair replacement systems, a term used due to the great lengths taken to provide a truly customized hair system. Most companies' idea of customization is to take head measurements and customer specifications before outsourcing the order for mass-production overseas, leaving clients wearing a somewhat generic hair system. Farrell hair Replacement custom makes the system for each client giving an all-natural undetectable look.

Â

They make use of high quality human hair that is identical in color, density, and texture to that of the client's. Farrell Hair Replacement looks at creating hair systems as an art, and creates undetectable hair systems with natural hairlines that can be worn performing any activity and parted any way the wearer wants. In addition, it is possible to expose the hairline entirely to give a natural look.

Â

The company does a series of makeover videos, which chronicle the transformation of various clients as their hair system is installed. One of the most popular is a video make-over with film and television star Jason Alexander. In this video he explain why he chose Farrell Hair Replacement over all of the other companies throughout the world. To see this video along with others, visit <http://farrellhair.com/media-library>

Â

In their field, Farrell Hair Replacement is the best in the world. Unsurprisingly, the company has a large client base. Farrell systems allow the creation of every style imaginable. This has made them especially popular with actors, whose film roles often require new hairstyles to change their appearance or how old they look.
