

Market Technologies Announces a 3-Day Live Trading Seminar

Market Technologies, world leader in market forecasting and proprietor of VantagePoint Intermarket Analysis Software, is hosting a 3-day training seminar.

Online PR News â€“ 12-February-2015â€“ Market Technologies, world leader in market forecasting and proprietor of VantagePoint Intermarket Analysis Trading Software, will be hosting a live 3-day training seminar in Tampa, Florida from February 21-23, 2015.

Guest speakers who are well known to the trading industry will be presenting during this event to teach VantagePoint users the best practices and strategies for becoming a better trader. This is a once in a lifetime opportunity to learn from VantagePoint Power Users Hal Brent, Greg Firman and Matt Golden who have spent decades developing strategies and techniques that consistently make them profits. Presenter Hal Brent says, "Consistently making money with VantagePoint is simple once you know what to look for and how to act on that information. That's what I'll be teaching."

Some of the many topics that will be discussed will include an exclusive look at the 2015 market outlook, keys to success in the Forex market and money management principles. VIP Customers will also have the opportunity to watch live trading during the session.

The last seminar event hosted by Market Technologies in March 2014 featured well known trader, Larry Williams. The response from the audience was so great that Market Technologies decided to do another live seminar to benefit their customers. Here is what customers had to say about last years seminar:
