

The Taper: Soapstone, Titanium and Stainless Steel Wine Stoppers

Taftware has launched a Kickstarter Campaign for The Taper, a wine stopper made from soapstone and metal which can be custom engraved.

Online PR News â€“ 16-May-2015â€“ Taftware has launched a Kickstarter Campaign for The Taper; a wine stopper created from a single piece of either soapstone, titanium or stainless steel. This is the worlds first all stone wine stopper.

Â

Taftware was founded in 2014 and manufactures high quality, unique barware from unique materials in Madison Heights, MI. The company was founded by Jon, Matt and Mike. All three co-founders have engineering and business backgrounds which they leverage along with a passion for creative innovation to generate new product concepts. To date, they have launched a line of shot and whiskey glasses out of unique metals through their website and various local events in Michigan.

Â

All products are made in the USA out of materials sourced in the USA. Taftware is committed to hand quality products with personal attention to detail.

Â

The Taper can be custom engraved with a single letter or initials to make a personalized, unique product which is perfect for gifts. The Kickstarter campaign is focused on generating funding to support production tooling and material orders. Taftware has been overwhelmed with the support so far and looks forward to the future of The Taper.
