Drug-Free South will participate in National Night Out Against Crime by distributing the Truth About Drugs booklets.

Online PR News â€“ 10-July-2015 â€“ In the last month, there have been four hundred drug and alcohol violations and crimes reported by the Nashville police department. In response, the Drug-Free South is ramping up its efforts to promote healthy living and a drug-free way of life. The group will participate in the upcoming events happening on August 4th in neighborhoods across the city for National Night Out Against Crime.

Â

The idea behind this night out is to stop crime before it starts. National Night Out is designed to heighten awareness; generate support for, and participation in, local anticrime programs; strengthen neighborhood spirit and police-community partnerships; and send a message to criminals letting them know that neighborhoods are organized and fighting back, according to natw.org.

Â

This year will mark the 31st annual event held to combat drug use and prevent crime. This is the 6th year that Drug-Free South will participate in the Nashville festivities. Neighborhoods frequently celebrate with a mix of food, dancing, information booths and crime forums to help promote safer living.
