City Beat News announces more winners of the 2016 Spectrum Award for Excellence in Customer Satisfaction, all of which have won for the first time.

Online PR News â€“ 03-July-2016 â€“ City Beat News (CBN) has announced the latest winners of its prestigious Spectrum Award for Excellence in Customer Satisfaction for 2016, and all of the companies are claiming their first win this year.

Â

In partnership with The Stirling Center for Excellence, CBN recognizes these companies for providing an outstanding customer experience and honors them with the Spectrum Award. Winners are based on CBNs independent, proprietary research and evaluation system, which identifies businesses with a track record of top-flight customer service and customer satisfaction. The rating system combines data collected from nominations, online and other customer reviews, surveys, blogs, social networks, business-rating services, and other honors and accolades all of which express the voice of the customer.

CBN provides the results of its research to the public and businesses on its website at www.citybeatnews.com at no charge, reporting on its findings to consumers and business owners on a rolling annual basis. The assessment of performance over a longer time period leads to a more balanced and reliable indicator of expected future performance than rating systems that gyrate with daily new reports or claims.

Â

Each and every year there is one rating posted just for you, the consumer, to help you find who has rated among the best, says CBN Editor Jamie Rawcliffe. The Spectrum Award winners have earned our highest ratings and are posted on our website with their own Star Page highlighting further information. Check www.CityBeatNews.com to verify if a company has earned CBNs independently researched Spectrum Award.
